

CROWN PRINCE SHOT; BALLIN A SUICIDE

Kaiser's Son Shot and Bayoneted by Own Troops While Fleeing to Holland

--Ballin, Head of Hamburg-American Line, Killed Self Because of Armistice.

London, Nov. 13, (11:10 a. m.)—The German crown prince was assassinated by his own troops, according to reports from Berlin.

mobile, the crown prince tried a second time with fatal results.

It is probable that the German crown prince fell a victim of the deadly discipline which he himself had helped drill into the German soldiers.

The body was found in a railway coach

In addition to being shot the crown prince had been bayoneted.

The sentries were under orders to fire upon any persons making their way into Holland and they evidently slew the German crown prince while he was endeavoring to flee for his life.

The German crown prince, Frederick William, was 36 years old and has been held largely responsible for the war by well known critics. He was one of the Junker groups. He was in command of a Germany army group between the Aisne and Meuse

He was killed by the troops that were escorting him into Holland.

The Hague, Nov. 13.—Alber Ballin, head of the Hamburg-American line, who died suddenly at Hamburg, really committed suicide, because of the armistice, according to information received here today.

It had previously been reported that Ballin had died of apoplexy. He was one of the best known shipping men in the world.

U. S. TO PREVENT

STARVATION IN GERMANY

In Reply to Dr. Solf President Wilson Pledges Aid to Beaten Enemy--German Tonnage to Carry Food.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Nov. 13.—By direction of President Wilson, Secretary representatives of the associated governments in supreme war council at Versailles have by unanimous resolution assumed the State Lansing today notified Dr. Solf German foreign secretary, that everything possible will be done to relieve famine conditions in Germany. The secretary told Dr. Solf at the president already has announced here that the Allied conference at Versailles had unanimously agreed to take every possible step to afford relief.

Mr. Lansing made it plain that while everything possible will be done for Germany it will be conditional on public order being maintained and an equitable distribution of the food warranted.

Central Empires that peoples of the vast areas comprising them, that is possible in the circumstances that he done to supply them with food and relieve the distressing want that is so many places threatening their very existence; and that steps are to be taken immediately to organize these efforts at relief in these systematic manner that they were organized in the case of Belgium.

Furthermore, the president expressed the opinion that by the use of idle tonnage of the Central Empires it ought presently to be possible to lift the fear of utter misery from their oppressed populations and set their minds and energies free for the great and hazardous tasks of political reconstruction which now face them on every hand.

Accordingly, the president now that all of the idle German tonnage is to be used in the direction of the foodstuffs to Germany. Germany also was told that the work will be along the systematic already so successful in Belgium. Today's note by Secretary Lansing directed in reply to the first note addressed to the president by Dr. Brüning in which he stated that the president use his influence to the procuring of the rigid armistice conditions.

The text of the note as made public by the state department was:

"From the secretary of state to the Minister of Switzerland: Department of State, Washington, December 12, 1918.

"Sir: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your note of today, transmitting to the direct me to state that he is ready to consider favorably the supplying of foodstuffs to Germany and to take up the matter immediately with the Allied governments; provided he can be assured that public order is being and will continue to be maintained, and that equitable distribution will be the outcome of my highest consideration.

"Accept, sir, the renewed assurance guaranteed."

(Signed) "ROBERT LANSING.

"Mr. Hans Sulzer, Minister of Switzerland, in charge of German interests in the United States."

The note to the secretary Lansing replied was as follows:

"From the Minister of Switzerland to the Secretary of State: Department of German Interests, Legation of Switzerland, Bern—Washington, D. C., Nov. 12, 1918.

"Sir:—By direction of my govern-text of a cable inquiring whether the President of the United States is ready to transmit the following cable:

"The German government urgently requests the President of the United States to inform the German Chancellor, Ebert, by wireless, whether he may be assured that the government of the United States is ready to send foodstuffs without delay if public order is maintained in Germany and an equitable distribution of food is guaranteed.

"Should be grateful if you would transmit the following reply to the German government:

"At a joint session of the two Houses of Congress on November 10, the President of the United States announced that the representatives of my highest consideration.

THE WORK AHEAD.

In this instance it can not be said that it is all over but the tumult and shouting. An upheaval so vast as the world war leaves problems of adjustment, reconstruction and rehabilitation that will require years for the process of satisfactory solution. Even large parts of the armies, even a considerable part of our army, may find police and other work necessary during months to come. The need of assistance is especially great in exhausted France, now bereft of the flower of her youth who went to their heroic death in order to save civilization itself as well as their country. According to Commissioner Tardieu, France, in order to rebuild upon the ruins, must rely on America not only for ships, labor, materials and money, but for the assistance of thousands of our soldiers.

The Germans will always boast that it required a world-combination to crush them, and this is true, although man for man they are inferior to the French and English as well as the Americans. After spending a generation in building up a mighty war machine and devising unexpected means—including the most unscrupulous and vile—of taking an unfair advantage, the Germans plunged without warning, and an astounded world, trained only in the arts of peace, had to learn modern war and how to match bellicose Hun devices before even the vast forces of civilization summoned to the conflict could make their numbers tell. Meanwhile the valiant French army and the surpassing British fleet that held back and confined the German hordes saved the world. But for these Europe would have succumbed and a titanic conflict between a triumphant Germany and an unconquerable America would have followed. A war of such unparalleled magnitude inevitably leaves behind it unparalleled labors of rebuilding.

A MARTYR RECALLED.

It is interesting to note that just at the moment of the collapse of the Prussian system Minister Brand Whitlock's current serial account gives the first full details of the murder of Edith Cavell, an event that was second only to the destruction of the Lusitania in awakening the world, and especially the United States, to a realization of the black iniquity of that system. Minister Whitlock shows that Miss Cavell could not have been condemned and executed even under German military law, rigorous and cruel as that was, that such a "law" was manufactured and announced only after the event in response to the world's outcry. Miss Cavell's unpardonable offense was, not that she helped hiding Englishmen and Belgians to escape to Holland, but that she was English and that the Germans were infuriated by the gains being made by the British army at that time. Miss Cavell "was English," says Minister Whitlock, "and so they slew her—slew the nurse who had cared for their own wounded soldiers." Of this devoted woman and trait martyr Mr. Whitlock says further: "The modest English nurse, whose strange fate it was to be so suddenly summoned from the dim wards of sickness and of pain to a high place among the world's heroes and martyrs will have in happier, freer times, her monument in Brussels; the school she founded will be called after her and continue her mission of healing in the earth. And when the horror of her cruel and unjust fate shall have faded somewhat in the light of its emergent sacrifice, the few lines she wrote and the simple words she spoke as she was about to die will remain to reveal the heights that human nature may attain, and to certify a martyrdom that will be revered as long as faith and honor are revered of men."

Of all the praise bestowed upon American soldiers in France, perhaps the highest is to be found in the article comment of French children in "compositions" handed to the French schoolmaster which interpreted an English publication from the source it can be learned, among other particulars, that American soldiers are "very amiable and kind to children," that they love their mothers and families, that they are "very polite," that they "laugh aloud" and whistle and sing much, and that they are "very clean," even washing "all their body with cold water."

EDITORIAL 4

Maximilian Harden sized up the German situation pretty correctly a few days ago when he said in a Danish correspondent: "We started the war with a dirty trick, and all our subsequent victories have been the results of dishonesty. William II is a film hero and Germany a vulgar cinematograph show. We sit today on the ruins of 30 years of Hohenzollern politics." And this time the "film hero" hasn't even the power to fling the free-tongued Harden into jail!

EPIDEMIC WILL COST CITY $3,500

Board of Health Requests That Amount to Pay Bills—Glanders Ban on Drinking Fountains Lifted—Other Matters Before Board.

The board of health held its regular monthly meeting at the city hall Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock. Mayor Canfield presided and all the members were present except Commissioner Mahar. Acting Health Officer Van Hovenberg and Plumbing Inspector Dressel were also in attendance.

Mayor Canfield stated that the board during the recent epidemic had been put to an expense of over $3,000 and that it would be necessary to ask the common council to appropriate the necessary amount. A resolution offered by Mrs. Michael was passed asking the common council to appropriate $3,500 to pay the bills. There are some bills yet to come in.

The matter of raising the quarantine placed on public drinking fountains in August, because of a number of cases of glanders being reported was taken up. At that time the period of the quarantine was left to the sanitary committee and Dr. Smith to determine. It was reported that no cases of glanders had been reported in over a month and there was no reason for continuing the quarantine. On motion of Dr. Woodward the quarantine placed on drinking fountains and water sheds was released.

It was the opinion of the members of the board that the reports published in the newspapers of the work done during the epidemic at the infirmary hospital, the child's welfare home and the kitchen department should be made a part of the record of the board. Mr. McBride moved that such reports be spread upon the minutes of the board, which was adopted.

Standers, Walkers, "Gets-It" for Corns

World Has Never Known Its Equal.

"What will get rid of my corn?" The answer has been made by millions—there's only one corn-remover that you can bank on, that's absolutely certain, that makes any corn on earth peel right off like a banana skin—and that's magic "Gets-It." Tight shoes and dancing even when you have a corn need not disturb you if you apply a few drops of "Gets-It" on the corn or callus. You want a corn-remover, not a corn-fooler. You don't have to fool with corns—you peel them right off with your fingers by using "Gets-It." Cutting, rubbing, corns grow and bleed. Why use irritating salves or make a bundle of your toe with tape or bandages? Why putter and still have the corn? Use "Gets-It"—your corn-pain is over, the corn is a "gone" sure as the sun rises. "Gets-It," the guaranteed, money-back corn-remover, the only sure way, costs but a trifle at any drug store. Mfg. by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

Corn-Pain Is Eased—the Corn Is Doomed!

PEPPER DISHES.

There is almost no limit to the possibilities of the pepper as a dish itself for seasoning for various dishes. A spoonful of chopped pepper added to a hash or a croquette mixture changes it entirely. A tablespoonful of fresh red and green pepper added to a salad dressing adds to its attractive appearance as well as its flavor.

Creamed meats, fish, oysters, scalloped dishes of various kinds, in fact many kinds of vegetables with buttered crumbs and an appropriate sauce are all good served in peppers.

A spoonful of chopped pepper added to bean soup improves it much in flavor. A most attractive salad may be made of tomato, goldmine and seasonings, poured into peppers to set. Cut them in slices and serve with salad dressing. Peppers may be canned as any other vegetable, blanching, then pack and cook under water as usual in the cold-pack method.

Stuffed Peppers.—Take large, well-shaped peppers for this purpose. Cut off the stem end, leaving the stem for a handle when possible. Parboil after removing the veins and seeds, chill in cold water and they are ready for stuffing. A mixture of chopped ham and rice or potato with left-over meat like sausage or any other meat mixture which makes a nice combination is good baked in a pepper shell. Peppers scalded and chopped then sprinkled over lettuce make a good salad served with any kind of dressing.

Peasants, chopped peppers, a spoonful of chopped onion and a salad dressing poured over lettuce is another good combination.

A potato is improved by the addition of a chopped green pepper.

Sherry's Dressing.—Take a cupful of olive oil, one-fourth cupful of good vinegar, a tablespoonful each of chopped green and red pepper, onion and powdered sugar, a teaspoonful of salt and a few dashes of cayenne, with a tablespoonful of chopped parsley, all well mixed and beaten until well blended, then allowed to stand an hour before serving, makes a salad dressing especially fine for head lettuce.

GRAHAM DIED A NOBLE DEATH

Seeger Man Killed in Action Engaged by Chaplain in Letter to Hero's Parents.

Mrs. Nelson Graham of Seeger, who received word over a month ago that her son, Floyd, had been killed in France, recently received a letter from a chaplain of his regiment, the 69th, telling of her son's death, as follows:

In France, Sept. 24, 1918.
Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Graham, Seeger,
N. Y.

Dear Friends:
I have just learned that through a misreading of my letter of condolence to you written after the battle of Oureq, has not been sent. I assure you that the passage of time has not lessened in any degree our regret for one dear to you and to us, or our deep sympathy with you in your loss.

It will be a source of help to you as it is to us who daily face a similar task, to know that he died a noble death, gallantly pushing forward to meet the enemy. His life was not spent in vain; his resoluteness helped to win a signal victory for our arms in a battle which marks a turning point in this terrible war, and which will help bring the world nearer to a lasting peace than any event in the last four years of strife.

His death was sudden, but not unexpected for. He had faced it steadfastly since first he enlisted for this service; he prepared himself for it religiously by making his peace with God; and he met it with a high and gallant spirit.

I buried him on the field where he fell—his final resting place. The cross marks his grave and the place is properly recorded. May God grant peace and rest to his dear noble soul —and comfort and help the hearts that mourn his loss.

Yours sincerely,
FRANCIS P. DUFFY,
Chaplain 165th Infantry.

Briefly Answered.

The English manner of today, of what are called the classes, is the growth of only a century or so. John Galsworthy writes in the Tale Review. There was probably nothing at all like it in the days of Elizabeth or even of Charles II. The English manner was still rude when the Indians of Virginia, as we are told, sent over to ask that there might be dispatched to them some distinguished assistance for the good of their souls, and were answered "It is your souls, grow together."

GAS COMPANY PETITION REJECTED BY COUNCIL

After Much Debate Resolution Authorizing Company to Seek Increase Failed—Epidemic to Cost City $3,500.

The Germans were badly beaten, so was the resolution authorizing the Kingston Gas and Electric Company to go before the public service commission seeking an increase in gas rates when it came before an adjourned meeting of the common council Tuesday evening. The petition came up two months ago but action was deferred.

The vote on the original resolution, offered by Alderman Kirchner, and seconded by Alderman Connelly, came after the rejection of amendments by Aldermen Schick and Preston and some sharp debate. Attorney Merritt, for the taxpayers' association, and Fred Winters did most of the talking. President Watts also used some language guiding the discussion into parliamentary channels.

The vote was: Nays—Preston, Rosas Schlip, Kelly, Mann, Higgins, Hull, 7; ayes—Kirchner, Schick, Schick and Kullman; absent, Purvis, Powell, Connelly.

Other Business Transacted.

The board adopted a resolution by Alderman Mann authorizing a tax levy of not to exceed $3,500 to defray the necessary expenses incurred by the board of health during the recent influenza epidemic, and authorizing the mayor and city treasurer to borrow said sum and issue bonds with interest not to exceed 5 1/2 per cent.

The emergency hospital bills, charged to the health board and referred to the auditing committee amounted to approximately $2,844.

Alderman Schick's motion that other bills read by the clerk be accepted and warrants issued was unanimously carried.

A letter presented by Mayor Canfield contained a proposal of Webster & Mills of New York city to audit the city accounts at a cost of $25 a day for chief accountants and $15 a day for assistants. It was referred to the finance and ways and means committee.

A resolution of Alderman Mann, providing for the purchase of a new typewriter for the use of the clerk, at a cost not to exceed $130, was referred to the building committee.

Kirchner Resolution Up.

The Kirchner resolution then coming up, automatically, Mr. Schick moved to amend by striking out the first part which related to waiving section 10 of the contract between the gas company and the city, fixing the price of gas at $1.15 per thousand feet, at the burners.

After some discussion among the wanted to strike out the clause about the contract. Mr. Schick replied that his intention was to make sure that no part of the contract would be abrogated in normal times and that with this clause out, the people and aldermen might feel differently about the matter.

Mr. Merritt then came into action and strongly opposed the amendment as only serving to bring the issue, he said that without any reference to the contract, the resolution, if passed, would be a blanket permission for the company to go before the commission with the assumption that the city recommended an increase and with no limitation as to time or amount. The substance of his contention was: "Shall the city grant permission to do that which the contract forbids without permission?"

Mr. Schick thought the mayor sharp enough to discover any inequity to the city in the resolution, and said he would sustain a veto if the mayor took such action.

In the course of a discussion over local points Mr. Stull interjected: "The application made by this company through your council was drawn without legal advice. Judge Clearwater was involved in the case for I don't think over fifteen minutes. The legal advice we secured was as to the manner of bringing it before the council."

Mr. Winters opined that Judge Clearwater could say more in that length of time than those present could in twenty-four hours, and that he would welcome a little advice from the judge right now. He said this was the greatest confession he had heard the company make.

Mr. Merritt said the petition was the "sickest piece of work" he had ever seen outside the profession and would recommend Mr. Stull's admission to the bar without further preparation.

Mr. Schick protested against outsiders dictating to the aldermen which way they should vote, saying the latter had their own opinions, and finally withdrew the amendment.

Alderman Preston then submitted an amendment suspending the price-fixing clause for two years. The company's charges to be determined by the public service commission, and fixing 3 1/2 per cent as a reasonable return on the stock.

At this point Mr. Winters emphatically announced that some lawyer drew that amendment, as "Carl Preston couldn't have written it" and Preston boldly asked if he could prove it. Winters offered to bet $50 in support of his statement. Preston's come back was to again ask him to prove it, but no denial was heard.

Attorney Merritt opposed this amendment also, saying it was a question of abrogate the contract or not abrogate it. In a long series of questions to Mr. Stull he contended that the by-products paid $0 percent of the running expenses of the plant.

The Preston amendment was defeated, 8 to 4.

Debating the original resolution, Messrs. Winters, Stull and Merritt entered into a long discussion as to the price of coal with no definite results. Mr. Stull said the gas company paid $6.27 a ton for its coal.

Another lengthy controversy ensued between Merritt and Stull as to the part played by the by-product, coke. Mr. Stull admitted that it sold for about the same price as coal, that about 2800 pounds resulted from two tons of coal; that some was sold but most of it was used at the gas plant, thus materially reducing the use of coal.

Mr. Merritt contended that if the by-products paid $0 percent of the operation of the plant five years ago there was no reason why, with the same efficiency, the same should not be true now.

After carrying a motion that the mayor be authorized to call a meeting of the Charter Committee, council adjourned.

There will be a special council meeting November 22.

The Supreme Test.

To retain our faith in our ideals when broken and trodden beneath men's feet in the dust, to know how to lay aside our inward sadness, to dismiss our enervating doubts and struggle on, to continue our march, sustained only by the thought of duty and an unyielding will, to make the most of life as it is given us—that is the supreme test of all great souls. That is the real victory of faith that overcometh the world.—Edward Worcester.

"THE United War Work Campaign of these societies is merely another indication of that unity of spirit as a nation that is making it possible for us to win the war. ## ROUTINE MATTERS WITH SUPERVISORS

The board of supervisors began their annual session last evening at their rooms in the court house, at 7:30 o'clock. When James Lounsbury, of Rochester, was elected chairman of the board several months ago, he, after thanking the members for the honor, said among other things that he would call all meetings promptly and make an effort to have business disposed of in a prompt manner. He made his promise good right off the reel, last night the first regular meeting, and the consequence was there were a few belated ones. They did not miss much, however, as only a few stock resolutions that come up annually, were on Clerk DeWitt's docket.

By Mr. Fratcher—That warrants be issued to the supervisors of the several towns for the amount of the mortgage tax in hands of the county treasurer applicable to the general fund and to the treasurer or other fiscal officer of the several incorporated villages for the amounts apportioned to said villages, in pursuance of Chapter 69 of the Consolidated Laws, as amended by Chapter 392, Laws of 1914.

By Supervisor Doyle—That the county treasurer be authorized to extend the time for the collection of taxes levied by this board in each town in the county and in the city of Kingston until the first day of April, 1919.

By Supervisor Avery—That the clerk of the board mail to the collectors in the several towns of the county, as soon as possible after adjournment of the regular session blank collectors' bonds with the amount of security required inserted in the same.

By Mr. Sax—That the collectors of the several towns of the county be authorized and required to accept the warrants issued by the town auditors or town boards of the several towns for the current year, and counter-signed by the supervisor in payment of taxes levied and assessed on properties in the several and respective towns for the current year.

By Mr. Young—That for allotments or claims against the county, which may be duly audited and allowed by the board at the annual session there shall be issued warrants on the county treasurer, payable on the first day of March next, to be signed by the chairman and clerk of the board, and the county treasurer is hereby directed to pay the same on presentation of such warrants properly executed and endorsed after such time.

On motion of Supervisor Fratcher, the board of supervisors adjourned until 7:30 o'clock Wednesday evening.

Well, Many Don't Seem to Have. Robert was a thoughtful child and was used to reasoning out the "why" to his own questions. One day a little boy came in from next door. He asked questions continually and Robert finally looked at him curiously and said, "Haven't you a think of your own?"

WOUNDED WELL TREATED.

Jack Carson hit in elbow and in hospital.

Samuel Carson, of Delaware avenue, has received the following letter of praise for the doctors and nurses "Over There" from his son, Jack, now in Base Hospital No. 55:

Oct. 6, 1918.

Dear Father:

I will try and let you know I am still alive and feeling as good as could be expected. I have had the misfortune of running up against some of the Hun's "iron rations" or otherwise known as H. E. My right arm is on the bum just at present, but nothing really bad, so don't worry.

I am in an American base hospital and am treated very nice. So can't complain. I was reading about your horse, "Peter Worthy," cleaning up on lots of the others, and it done me much good, just to know that you was showing up some of the other skates. Maybe the next season I will be able to make the circuit with you. That is I hope I will, and the way things look over here I will be there. How is your health these days? I hope you are well and full of pep, as that's the way to be.

Let Ethel know that I am up against it, for I can't write for a while at least. Don't make it too strong. Just say I am slightly wounded. Tell her to address my mail to me here, as I will get it quicker by having it addressed here.

Well, dad, I will say one thing. We have some of the finest doctors and nurses you ever saw. They sure do treat us fellows nice. They are real American people.

Well I will ring off for now, hoping to hear from you and Ethel very soon. So long for now. With love and best wishes to all, I remain as ever, your son, JACK.

House Oldest In America.
Tradition, indorsed by the press and the testimony of the oldest inhabitants, gives authority to the statement that the oldest house, No. 54 North St. George street, St. Augustine, Fla., is really the oldest house in America. Built by the Deas in medieval times (1589) on the oldest street of what was the site of the Indian village of Seloa, whose chief was Polumio, this ancient house has never been remodeled or modernized.

The architecture is of Moorish design, antedating the Spanish. With its equilateral floors, round carved pillars in the patio, mahogany stairways, beamed red cedar timbers, all peered together, secret closets and other substantial hallmarks, it is unlike any other house in St. Augustine, and is truly one of the sights of the ancient city.

The More Spots the More Meals.
The number of spots burned on a Chinese man's head shows how much he has eaten to endure, says a recent writer on the subject of China. They receive as severe an initiation as this, and get therefrom certain powers. If a monk has three spots he can get three meals free at any monastery in China; six spots entitles him to six meals free up to three days; seven, and the maximum of twelve, a month's wage.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

The funeral of James Draffen, who died on Saturday, was held Tuesday afternoon from his late residence, No. 14 West Union street, and was largely attended. The Rev. Dr. Charles C. Ellis, pastor of the Methodist Presbyterian Church, officiated and paid high tribute to the sterling worth of Mr. Draffen. The floral offerings were many and beautiful. The bearers were Dr. C. B. Cragin, Dr. Murray, Dr. H. Bishop and Robert J. Barnett. Interment was made in Mount Pleasant cemetery.

Very suddenly on Tuesday evening at nine o'clock death came to Blanche A. Noyes at her home, 42 Wall street. She was the daughter of the late Rev. Stephen D. and Louise B. Noyes, and has lived in Kingston the greater part of her life, although Newton, N. J., was her birthplace. Her sister, Anna R., and brother, A. Gary Noyes, survive her. There could be in this world no sweeter nature than Blanche Noyes'. She saw in others only the good qualities. The faults left no impression, so that her estimate of the world and of the people in it was that it was good. Her impulses were always for her friends and of them she had countless numbers in all walks of life. Miss Noyes has been for six years manager of the Women's Exchange at 1 Main street, and has through that a wider acquaintance than her retiring nature would otherwise have gained. The women who brought their handwork there to sell and the purchaser who took it away were alike her friends. Her sunny disposition made the little shop a meeting place for many who simply dropped in to talk and enjoy the friendly atmosphere of the place.

Blanche Noyes possessed the rare quality of remembering everything others did for her, and forgetting all the favors which she herself did. The death of this lovely woman will bring deep sorrow to many hearts, and leave in her circle and in her home a vacancy that will always be felt so long as those live who knew and loved her.

The death of Jacob H. Constable of Clinton avenue, the well known, highly respected and much-loved druggist of North Front street, has removed from our midst a many of many friends. Mr. Constable, who has been connected with the drug business for over forty years and who was born in Shokan, came to Kingston as a boy to attend what was then No. 11—now No. 7 school. After completing his studies in that school he attended the Delhi Academy, from which he graduated. He then returned to Kingston, making his home with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph DuBois (both of whom he survived) and becoming a clerk in his uncle's drug store. On the death of his uncle some eighteen years ago Mr. Constable became manager of the business which he efficiently carried on to the time of his death, which was due to pneumonia. Though early afflicted with curvature of the spine, Mr. Constable was never embittered by his distressing affliction, and his geniality and business courtesy made him a host of friends. The funeral services took place this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of Miss DuBois, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph DuBois, and cousin of Mr. Constable. Mr. Constable had during his residence in Kingston attended the Mount Street Baptist Church, and the Rev. A. K. Fuller, pastor of that church, officiated. The burial was in Wiltwyck cemetery.

Visitors Take Chance of Welcome.
Moose and fishermen are extremely superstitious, and the appearance of a strange change in weather or tide or the coming of a visitor makes them angry if at the same time the fish refuse to bite. If he arrives at the time of a run he is eagerly welcomed, and sometimes is at a loss to return in the proper way the gratitude of the fishermen who fancy his coming brought the run of fish.

LEONARD LIKES SOLDIER LIFE

PRIV. RICHARD CHRISTOPHER LEONARD

Youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Leonard of Glenford, N. Y., left for Fort Slocum August 7, 1918 and was later transferred to Camp McClellan, Alabama. "Dick," as he was better known by his friends, was employed for the past four years by the Elster and Delaware Railroad Company and was well liked by all who knew him. He writes, "Good eats, and good fellows," and says he is one that is glad that he is wearing a uniform for his country.

In Lapland.
In all parts of Lapland there is a numerous class of poorer Lapps whose herds of deer are too small to enable them to live on the mountains or to trust to them entirely for subsistence. These are called Wood-Lapps and they live in the woods and forests that abound in the country. There are also the Fishing or Coast Lapps. These have a fixed abode, and if they wander it is only for a short distance.

AUTOMOBILES ARE VERY NECESSARY IN MILITARY SERVICE OF UNITED STATES

Ammunition Trucks Awaiting Darkness to Cover Their Trip to the Front—First Division Ammunition Train.

There is no doubt that the motorcar is a necessity in business and civil life today. Neither is there any doubt that it is equally necessary in the military service of the United States, both overseas and on this side.

The quartermaster corps, the aviation section of the signal corps, the ordnance department and other sections of the army are using hundreds of motorcars and motortrucks, and adding great numbers to the fleets already in service here and across the Atlantic.

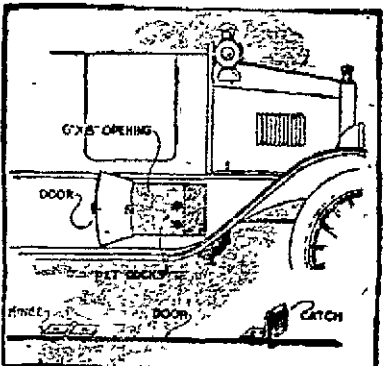

Though the government has asked that manufacturers curtail their production of passenger cars for civilian use, there has been no curtailment so far as military cars are concerned. These are leaving factories in great fleets, being driven overland to army camps or to Atlantic seaports for shipment abroad.

"The army has taken a leaf out of the book of civilian life, and quickly learned that efficient, economical transportation of men and materials, and rapid communication between distant points, is best accomplished by motor vehicles," said C. R. Dashiell, Chicago automobile agent.

FOR TESTING LEVEL OF OIL

Trouble of Crawling Under Car Avoided by Method Outlined by a Des Moines Man.

On some light automobiles the only method provided for testing the level of oil in the crank case is to open petcocks, which are hard to get at without crawling under the car, writes George A. Brown of Des Moines, Ia., in Popular Mechanics. By the method shown it is possible to avoid this trouble without the danger of breakage.

A Small Door in the Running-Board Shield Overcomes Troublesome Methods of Oil-Level Testing.

which is present when a gauge glass is used. A rectangular opening is cut in the running-board shield, and is provided with a hinged door. The door will not rattle if a spring catch is used, and it will be no detriment to the looks of the car if painted the same color.

GOOD ANTI-FREEZE MIXTURE

Alcohol Solutions Are Cheap and Effective for Automobiles and Other Engines.

The dairy farmer need not put up his automobile for the winter for fear of the engine freezing, as it has been found that alcohol solutions are cheap and effective anti-freezing mixtures for automobiles and other gasoline engines. According to W. Ives of the Ohio agricultural engineering department the strength of the mixture for various temperatures is as follows: A 10 per cent solution for 25 degrees above; 20 per cent solution for 5 degrees above; 30 per cent solution for zero temperature, and a 35 per cent solution for 10 degrees below. In case a mixture of 20 per cent alcohol freezes, this simply forms a soft mush which has no bursting power.

TURPENTINE IS VERY USEFUL

Most Satisfactory Medium for Thinning Enamel or Varnish—Alcohol Also Is Used.

Ordinary turpentine is a satisfactory medium for thinning enamel or varnish, as most motorists know. Some varnish manufacturers supply a special thinning liquid, which should be used in this instance. When it is desired to produce a quick-drying enamel, try using alcohol for thinning.

STOP WHISTLE IN MUFFLERS

Holes Are Sometimes Rough and Ragged, Causing Escaping Gases to Make Loud Noise.

The holes drilled in mufflers sometimes are rough and ragged, with the result that the escaping gases set up a whistling noise anything but agreeable. Something on the rough edges will usually eliminate the unwelcome sound.

VALVES MUST BE ADJUSTED RIGHT

Engine Will Not Run Correctly if They Are Not Given Proper Attention.

LIFTERS OFTEN NEGLECTED

When Motor Loses Power Trouble Is Usually Laid to Carburetor or Faulty Ignition—Wise Plan to Examine and Reset.

Proper adjustment of valve lifters is vital to the car if it is to give maximum efficiency. If they are not properly adjusted the best engine in the world will lose power. Because they are not right out in plain sight the valve lifters are many times neglected until they force themselves to the owner's attention.

Ordinarily when the motor loses power the fact is attributed either to the carburetor or to faulty ignition and many times it is hard to convince the owner that it is valve lifters which are accountable for his inability to climb hills and obtain the speed on the level to which he is accustomed.

Examine and Reset.

They become noisy, due to the fact that the distance between the lift and the cam becomes too wide. By stopping the motor, removing the valve plates and shaking them up and down one may locate the ones out of adjustment. Sometimes more than one is at fault and it is a good policy to examine and reset all while about it. Examine the adjustment carefully to understand it, for much damage may be caused by turning the wrong nut. One is the locking nut which must be loosened first. The adjusting nut is then set to the right distance and the locking nut again set up.

The opening should approximate 1-64 of an inch for exhaust, and 3-1000 inch for intake valves. An ordinary business card is a good gauge for the exhaust valve, while a piece of note paper will serve for the inlet.

Clearance Too Great.

If the valve clearance becomes too great the valves open late and close early. Since they should move exactly as the designer intended, it is evident that the engine will lose power if both ends are cut off. If the clearance is not enough the engine will lose compression and with it a great deal of power. This is due to the fact that as the engine beats up the valve stem lengthens. As they grow longer they use up the space between the valve stem and the valve lifter. If the space is too small the valve stem rests on the valve lifter. As it lengthens the head of the valve is lifted off its seat in the cylinder, opening the valve and so losing compression.

HANDY FOR CUTTING RIVETS

Proper Tool to Use Is Sharp Chisel—Back Up Head With Some Heavy Weight.

The proper tool to use in cutting out rivets that hold together thin metal parts is a sharp chisel. The head of the rivet should be backed up with a weight of some kind so as to prevent tearing of the adjacent metal. An experienced handy man is the quickest method of cutting off rivet heads.

PLAGUE OF CORN GROWER

New Insect Threatens the Crop That Is Grown in the Eastern Districts of Massachusetts.

An insect, comparatively new to this country, threatens the corn crop of eastern Massachusetts.

The corn borer, believed to be of European origin and to have been accidentally introduced here about ten years ago, is said now to be firmly established within a 15-mile radius of Boston.

Only recently has it come into economic prominence, according to a report from the Massachusetts agricultural college, which urges that every effort be made this year to eradicate this pest not only to insure the safety of corn crops, but also to keep the insect within the present bounds and thus prevent it from reaching the great wheat fields of the West.

The injury is caused by the first brood of caterpillars which reach maturity during the latter part of July and transform to yellowish moths early in August. The caterpillars, when full grown, are flesh-colored and somewhat smoky or brownish, about one inch long. They pass the winter within the remains of the plant, and can best be destroyed during the winter or at any time before planting the new crop. One of the chief means of exterminating the insect is to burn all old stubble, corn stalks and trash around the field or garden.

HIGH PRAISE FOR AMERICANS

Fighting Men of France and Britain Pay Tribute to the United States Soldiers.

"Diaries" of the Westminster Gazette says that two subjects of constant praise with British officers and men who have been home from the front recently are the Americans and the French reserves. Of the French an officer told me, he says, that if he had not seen them he would not have believed that our allies had in reserve such a fine body of fighting men. Somehow or other, perhaps as the result of enemy propaganda, the idea got about that France had exhausted all her best classes and that only indifferent ones were left. There is not an atom of foundation for such an idea. For the Americans I gather, no praise can be too high. I have heard Scotsmen call them "bonnie fighters." Lancashire men describe them as "gradely lads," and I believe "derty" is regarded as a very appropriate summing-up of their qualities.—Christian Science Monitor.

Longest and Shortest Days.

The longest and shortest days of the year vary. In 1918 the longest day was June 19, 15 hours and 18 minutes from sunrise to sunset. In 1917 from June 16 to June 22, inclusive, each day was 15 hours and 17 minutes long. In 1918, December 19, 21, 23 and 25, will each be 8 hours and 4 minutes from sunrise to sunset, while the intervening days, December 20, 22 and 24, will each be one minute longer. In 1917 only December 21 and 23 were the shortest days, each containing 8 hours and 4 minutes.

Forgot the "Laundry."

They were on an interurban car bound for the big city. One of them, the son of a banker, had been entrusted with a bundle containing $5,000 in bills. The bundle was wrapped in a newspaper. Being young, the heirs of the treasure fell to talking of girls and things and when they arrived at the station both got up and started away without the bundle.

"Hey, you fellows," a man who had been sitting back of them shouted, "Hey, boys, you've forgot your laundry."

It need not be guessed that the boys double-quick back for the "laundry."

Taxes Which France Pays.

Between 1912 and 1918, according to the statement of the French finance minister, direct taxation on income and profits in that country rose from $259,400,000 to $623,400,000, and total taxation from $657,400,000 to $1,201,500,000. On what are called the "necessaries" articles of consumption, alcohol and tobacco the tax yield has risen from $161,000,000 to $405,000,000.

What Things'll Come To.

"How do you sell your wai-wai-wai?" asked the street young thing of the grocery man.
"We sell 'em, of course," said the merchant, never turning a hair. "but we can arrange for easy terms if you wish to buy 'em."

PEACH SCAB IS DESTRUCTIVE

Disease May Be Successfully Combat- ed by Applications of Self- Boiled Lime Sulphur.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Peach scab, next in importance economically to the destructive brown rot among peach diseases in the United States, may be successfully controlled at small cost by the use of sprays of self-boiled lime sulphur or sulphur paste. Before such control measures were made use of by commercial peach growers it appeared that the disease would inflict heavy losses by making impossible the cultivation of certain varieties of peaches in many of the important peach-growing regions east of the Rocky mountains.

Peach scab attacks fruit leaves and twigs, manifesting itself on the fruit in serious spotting and cracking. It brings about only superficial injuries to the twigs and leaves. When the spots are fully developed on the fruit, they are fairly well defined, circular, greenish to black areas. The spots may be more or less uniformly scattered over the upper surface of the fruit or may become so abundant as to form large patches.

Though the spraying schedule might be somewhat different if scab only was to be guarded against, the following spraying plan should be followed for combating this disease and also brown rot and the plum curculio.

Early Varieties.—The early varieties, such as the Greensboro, German, Hilkey, and those with similar ripening periods should be sprayed as follows:

(1) With arsenate of lead and lime about ten days after the petals fall. This application may be omitted in sections where the curculio is not a serious factor.

(2) With arsenate of lead and self-boiled lime-sulphur or finely divided wettable sulphur about a month after the petals fall. If the latter type of fungicide is used, the addition of lime, as in the first treatment, may be a desirable precaution against arsenical injury.

(3) With finely divided wettable sulphur or self-boiled lime-sulphur three to four weeks before the fruit ripens, but not less than four weeks before harvest if self-boiled lime-sulphur is used.

Midseason Varieties.—The treatment recommended for early peaches is applicable, likewise, to midseason varieties, such as the Reeves, Belle, Early Crawford, Elberta, Late Crawford, and Fox. For such varieties, however, the third application is very essential and should not be omitted where brown-rot or scab injury is serious. Late Varieties.—The Salway, Heath, Elberta, and varieties with similar ripening periods should be treated, as midseason varieties, with the addition of an application of the fungicide alone about a month after the second treatment.

The following concentrations of spray preparations are recommended: Arsenate of lead, 1½ pounds (powder, three-fourths pound) in 50 gallons; stone lime, 2 to 3 pounds in 50 gallons; self-boiled lime-sulphur, 8 pounds of lime and 5 pounds of flour of sulphur in 50 gallons; and finely divided wettable sulphur, 5 pounds in 50 gallons in the case of the paste (approximately 50 per cent sulphur), used in the foregoing experiments.

Where curculio infestation is not severe, finely ground sulphur and powdered arsenate of lead applied as a dust mixture may be substituted for the liquid spray in the second application. The finely ground sulphur without the arsenate may be substituted in the third application. Sulphur of such fineness that it will pass through a 200-mesh screen, when applied as a dust, is an efficient remedy for scab. It is a promising remedy for the control of brown-rot but the efficiency is the control of severe cases is as yet uncertain. The arsenate of lead-sulphur dust is composed of 10 pounds of the former to 90 pounds of the latter.

Are you giving your brain and energy to are you selling them? If you are selling them they are not yours. The Freeman's Want Ad. Department is the most where daily advertisements are made between man who sells in selling.

Indian Superstition.
A student of Indian customs relates that the Seneca tribes were unable for its beauty. When a child died the Indians lamented a third until it drew to him in the way of some, and then kneeling, men and women, and children, they begged that he would give the child its life until it had drawn to him and delivered its burden.

Fair Warning.
Brother, looking around, and in this winter's slipper after a long season, later in the day dawned the beautiful day when we were about to put on our new winter clothing, turning our eyes out as he did not turn them on. There's a bird's eye and you'll kill the young Peculiar Articles of Commerce.

Dried hands are sold as an article of merchandise regularly imported into this country. They come from China, to supply a demand by Chinese residents in the United States. They are employed to possess such medicinal virtue when ground to powder and mixed with certain other curative substances. The Chinese used dried hands for a tonic, salted scorpions for emetics and fossil crabs as an antidote for poison.

Liberty.
Two lovers were sitting side by side in Battery park, New York, one exclaiming "I wonder," he inquired as he glanced out across the beautiful bay and saw the Statue of Liberty in the wintry gloom, "why they have it so high so small." "Perhaps," replied the girl as she gazed and, tried to slip from his embrace, "the smaller the light the greater the liberty."

Accuracy Better Than Speed.
People who go in for speed records are not as wise as they think they are, for speed without accuracy is of no avail. True, time is at a premium in every line these days and we should not under any circumstances waste a minute unnecessarily. But if we aren't sure about any phase of our work we must take sufficient time to go into it and not rely on chance to help us where we can possibly help ourselves.

Musical Expression in Children.
A writer says: "The greater part children's time is spent in elaborate expression and make-believe. The entire basis of their education is required through this directly assimilative faculty." This applies more forcibly to music and gives to those who have the care of children almost unlimited opportunity for developing musical expression.

Two Discoveries.
A long time ago, a keen observer of human nature put on record his discovery that a small borrower never leaves the company of a bank without looking one way and walking the other. A trial of this character has just turned up. His conclusion, after years of patient observation, is that one never sees a small boy and a brass band moving in opposite directions. ## PHOENICIA.

Phoenicia, Nov. 12.—Phoenicia shared fully in the celebration of the good news from "Over There" on Monday. Shandakian and Chichester created considerable sensation in the town, also.

A physical training teachers' conference for the town of Olive, Harndenburgh and Shandakian, under the supervision of Superintendent Wallace J. Andrews and in charge of Miss Caroline Le Hardt, as instructor from the State Department of Education, was held in our school on Monday.

After roll call Miss Le Hardt put the teachers through the exercises for the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth weeks' work as outlined by the Physical Training Bulletin. She had them at work at the various practical exercises of the first two months. In the afternoon the games to be taught during the following months were explained and given a practical test. The teachers showed themselves both confident and amiable in the various games.

Miss Le Hardt proved an efficient and untiring trainer and left a practical working outline for the teachers to carry forward in their schools during November. The next conference will be held here on Monday, December 2.

It is said that it is always darkest just before dawn. It has proved a Thursday at the Wood Brook Cottage.

weeks dark heavy clouds have been hovering over us and it seemed that God had left us to ourselves and that our large would be dashed to pieces sun.

But thanks be to His supreme wisdom and goodness. He has spoken in a way that our hearts have felt His mission to His holy will. With the news that the world war is over, we frankly admit the dawning of a new day in the world's history.
